A CURIOUS BLANKET

Miss Hodge Has Woven a Quaint Navajo Indian Pattern

A THRILLING THUNDER STORM

Miss Eliza Hodge, of Elwyn, Pa, is being warmly welcomed by a number of her many friends in this town and vicinity.

She has been spending a few days in Middletown as the guest of Miss Jodie Biggs and of Mr. and Mrs. Burris and with Mrs. William Bradford, of Maryland.

Miss Hodge is showing her friends a wollen blanket which is both beautiful and curious, having been woven by herself after a quaint Navajo Indian pat-

At one end is a grotesque figure in black and white with four legs, a head and a tail representing the Evil god Chinee, and near him in white that mysterious symbel—the Swastika which has been found all over the world in all ages from the cave-man to modern savages dwelling in the remotest isles.

FINN, THE PITCHING WONDER

The Luxburger A. C. ball tear of Wilmington received a severe set back for the independent county championship, which about a half-dozen teams are claiming, when the Middletown Claiming, when the Middletown A. A. team administered defeat by a score of 6 to 0. Finn, the left-handed spitball pitcher of the home team, was in fine form and had the Luxburgers at his mercy, from the start, striking out the first six up and start, striking out the instask up and in all striking out 14 men and allowing but four scattered hits. He did not give a base on balls. Another feature was a running catch of a swift liner by Walker. McGaughey pitched a good game for the visitors but his support miserable. Finn has struck out men in 13 games this season. The

GET THE HABIT

It is said that Church-going broadens the mind, cheers the soul, uplifts men's thoughts to the skies above them and the hills beyond them; breaks the dull routine of work; releases the captives of toil; makes life interesting again; wakens new power of insight and sympathy; changes the world's prose into poetry. Come to Church and give it a trial.

Missing Farmer is Found

Alegernon Quein, the young Cecil anoth ago, leaving his wife and children on the fârm, has been located in Columbia, Pa., where he is working in a factory. At the time he left home it was supposed that his mind was affected. Neighbors searched the woods for days for his body. A few days ago Mrs. Quein received a letter stating that he was working in Columbia and asked that his clothes be sent to him. Since Quein the poung Cecil and the poung Cecil and the poung the poung few and the poung few an het his home his youngest child has been dangerously ill and several days ago every building on the farm, including the dwelling with all contents, were burned.

If it is to be in any sense the money crop in certain districts, it must be readily and profitably convertible into cash. This means that the surplus must cash. This means that the surplus must be able to move freely, at good prices, soon after being thrashed. It therefore seems especially unfortunate that these crops should be grown in the midst of the greatest stock-producing section of country, and yet not be fed on the farms where they and the stock are grown. To reverse the statement, both cattle for feeding and grain sorghums for feed are raised extensively in the southern plann; area, but the cattle are southern plann; area, but the

The recent rapid increase in the num-er of silos in the States of Oklahoma nd Texas will be a direct aid to cattlereading operations. The combination of nome-grown silage and feeding grain, with readily accessible cottonseed meal, pught to aid in making feeding profitable in the grain-sorghum belt.

a fact that may make the soap valuable for the navy.

Articles that formerly had to be sent to chemical laundries can now be washed with the new kind of soap. The finest kinds of silks, it is alleged, not only are not harmed by it, but their colors are brought out brilliantly and as new. Eastern theater: Army group of Field Marshal Von Hindenburg: The troops of General Von Bessler are stationed in the region surrounding the bridge head south of Freidrichstadt. In an engagement east of the Niemen the army of General Von Eichhorn reached a point northeast of Olita. An additional 1,560 prisoners and seven cannon were captured. In the direction of Grodno the town of Lipsk, on the Bohr River, was taken by storm and the enemy forced to surrender. The Widra, a tributary of the Sukelka, was crossed by our troops. The eastern border of the forest directly east of Bialystok has been reached at several points.

"Army group of Prince Leopold: In the Bielobiezh forest fighting goes on for possession of the crossing over the upper Narew. German and Austro-Hungarian troops under General Von Woyrsch drove the enemy out of his position at Suchodol, on the eastern border of the forest, and at Szereszowo and are now closely pursuing him.
"Army group of Field Marshal Von Mackensen: In order to render possible the retreat of their rear-guard divisions through the marsh district, the Russlans made a stand once more on a line in the Koddubno district, south of Kobrin. They were defeated, although they brought back and threw into the battle some divisions which previously had been falling back."

Washington.—Growing belief exists in official and diplomatic circles here that general peace negotiations may be set in motion among the belligerent nations of Europe if the United States succeeds in reaching a perfectly satisfactory understanding with Germany.

That Germany's sudden change of front toward this country and her willingness, as set forth by Count von Bernstorff, the German Ambassador to the United States, to make her submarine warfare comply with the demands of the United States have made a profound impression abroad is a fact reflected in all the dispatches coming here from the European capitals. Assuming that Germany's promises are genuine, world-wide opinion would seem to have conceded that the United States has attained a position of powerful influence from which to address new offers of mediation to the warring powers.

Throwing Up Barriers To Hold the Germans While They Prepare For New Offensive—Little Booty Taken.

London.—The Germans, in full possession of the entire Brest-Litovsk line, have resumed the offensive in the Baltic provinces and are pressing the Russians both in the districts southeast of Mitau and to the east of Kovno in an effort to reach the main line of railway which passes through Vilna and Dvinsk to Petrograd.

This may, in time, prove the most important of the German operations, although at present they are using more troops in the pursuit of the Russians, who are retiring from Brest-Litovsk and the line on either side of the fortress.

It is expected, however, that with the fall of Brest-Litovsk, which has been followed by that of Olita, south of Kovno, the armles of Field Marshal von Hindenburg will be reinforced and make another attempt to cut off the retreat of the Russians. It is believed here, however, that it now is too late to accomplish this purpose.

The Russians apparently have evacuated both Brest-Litovsk and Olita before the Germans arrived, as the latter make no claim to the capture of guns and booty. The Austrian official report states that Archaluke Joseph Ferdinand found the town of Kamlenlez-Litovsk in flames when he arrived There are indications. aroused by her cries and the noise of crackling wood.

duke Joseph Ferdinand found the town of the Mannes when the arrived. There are indications therefore that the Russians still are derrying to the rear everything movable that might prove of use to the invaders and burning what they are unable to take with them.

Russians Strip Country.

Russians Strip Country.

Petrograd.—The main mass of the Russian army deployed between the Bobr and the Pripet marshes is falling back on another general position along the greater part of a front of 150 miles. The retirement is being carried out independently of any local pressure of the enemy, who is supposed to have 20 corps concentrated on the line of Brest-Litovsk.

For some weeks past the work of stripping the country in the immediate rear of the Czar's armies of all machinery, stock and supplies that might be of any use to the enemy has been vigorously prosecuted and the fortifications evacuated are nothing more than heaps of debris.

The Russians, in fact, are adopting the policy which proved fatal to Napoleon. As the line of battle drifts eastward conditions are bound to become progressively more favorable for the Fussians and less so for the armies of Germany and Austria. Not until something like equipoise of armament and munitioning has been restored will the Russians accept the risk of a really decisive struggle.

Meanwhile the enemy will be checked and retarded and his energies wasted away wherever topographical conditions afford a favorable opportunity for making a temporary stand.

Hadn't each one of them, even while demanding the others' lopakty, been sleekly planning to betray her own pledged word to gain the coveted money? What chance had poor neglected Flodie, who hadn't even been asked? She dried her eyes and looked up at the clock. It was three-fifteen. As she watched the dial, her face changed subtly. Dropping her eyes she began to think in real earnest. Her time was short. If she were to play Cinderella at the party tonight, it behooved her to find a fairy godmother as soon as possible. Wouldn't that have to be Hall—who else?

She dabbed her eyes in water, then went to the door of the studio.

"Oh, Mr. Bonistelle!" she called.

He came in looking anxious. "Lord, I've been worrying myself sick!" he confessed. "What in the world were they up to, anyway?"

Mrs. Royalton resigned herself to the inevitable. Truth to tell, she was no little afraid of this picturesque blonde. "Oh, then, very well—I'll be delighted to give you a lift in my car, I'm sure!"

Carolyn gave her a glance, and smiled acridly. "Oh, yes, do come, Miss Gale, we'll be so glad to see more of you! That will be charming."

"No," said Rosamund, bluntly, "I think I'll walk, after all." The three went out with over-polite "good afternoons" to Miss Fisher.

Flodie turned away and sat down hopelossly. "Yes; just good pals. No nonsense whatever." She smiled wanly. "Funny thing, too, when you come to think of it, isn't it?"
"Why?" She looked up, startled.
"Oh, I don't know—here all day alone, working together, and all that sort of thing—lit's a wonder we never fell in love or anything, isn't it? Propinquity, you know—supposed to be dangerous."
Flodie looked up, frightened, and clutched her heart. Hall was gazing

Many mothers know the value of a pretty box for collecting toys, but I know of one child who never could be taught to put away his toys until his mother bought a fair-sized tin water pail one day. The set-in sleeve is featured on the majority of gowns for fall. To impress their presence upon the minds of prospective buyers they have made themselves conspicuous by being emphásized in various ways. In some instances the armhole is outlined with bands of the material, embroidered in silks or wools. Then, again, wide bands of contrasting materials or of braid are used to bind the armhole. A very unusual sleeve is an interesting part of a blue serge gown. Three-inch silk braid is sewed around the top of the sleeve, the sleev-being stitched fat by this braid band to the outside of the bodice, not in the armhole.

Nor would he ever put them away in the box again. He liked to hear the noise, he said, "when the toys got fired into the pail."

A Japanese matting box is an ideal toy box. It is attractive, hard, and shiny inside, and makes a nice seat for little people besides. But it is much better for mothers to come down to the children's way of thinking and let them learn good habits in their own way. One child, it will be found, will like a tip pail, another will only be happy if taught neatness through the medium of ratin and lace.

Many a centerpiece or scarf that lacks tone may be improved by outlining the color design with black. This is especially recommended on the heavy linen and scrim covers where brilliant hues appear unfinished or need bringing out. However, black outlining is very effective on the ordinary white linen centerpiece worked in plain white. One of these seen recently had a jewel pattern with conventional scrolls done all in white. A boiler in the canning factory of Robert L. Simmons, at Andrews, exploded, killing one man and scalding and mangling a number of others. The factory had just started work for the day, the explosion occurring a little after 7 o'clock. Billy Robbins, the 18-year-old son of Capt. James W. Robbins, was instantly killed. Rufus Robbins, another son of Captain Robbins, was scalded and otherwise seriously injured.

The "Maryland Special," carrying a party of 70 persons from points between Winsted, Conn., and New Orleans, left Camden Station, Baltimore, Friday for California and will return September 20. The trip will be similar to the one taken by Governor Goldsborough and party, only the route will be reversed. In the party will be lawyers, bankers, physicians, debutantes, a preacher, trained nurse, Congressman and others.

BARBARIC GEORGIA

AFTER a display of sham indignation by the authorities, and a farcial hunt to find the mob murderers of Le Frank, the coroner's jury in just thre minutes reached its weighty verdict-"that Leo Frank came to his death at the hands of persons unknown"!

The Mayor of Atlanta, and other leading Georgians are preparing the way for another lynching, by warning ex-Governor Slaton, now at the Panama Exhibition, not to dare again set foot in

We are sorry to conclude that the public sentiment of the state is quite on a par with that of the cowardly mol which with a lynching finished the work it began in and around the very Court where Frank was being tried for his life. Georgia justice in court and out, does not rise above the level of the mob that browbeat the jury into returning a verdict of guilty, and that afterwards lynched him.

All this humbug of rewards and all this perfunctory bustle of sheriffs and detectives, an indignant (?) governor and the rest of the play, fools nobody outside of Georgia.

The state connived at this shameful murder when it allowed a trial in one of its courts to proceed with a howling mob shouting into the open court-room windows, "Hang the damned Jew" connived at it, when it sent Frank to unprotected work-house jail when for weeks threats of lynching were openly made against his life.

Now the state is angrily squirming under the lash of public opinion as ex pressed East, North, West and a little in its own section. But there is small hope for amendment when high officials in the state boast they will lynch the late Governor Slaton for doing his best to do justice and to avert the state's

It is a sickenieg record that makes the isothermal line of decency and jus tice bend low enough to embrace the half-barbarous latitude of Mexico

MORE GERMAN TRICKS

YET once more the impudent Ger-mans are pulling the wool over the eyes of that astute statesman in the White House! More dishonest quibbles for delay-more lying promise never meant to be kept!

To gull Mr. Wilson, whose patriotic vision is distorted through squinting at the hyphenated voter, and through gazing at the dazzling impossibility of surpassing Mr. Roosevelt in the 10le of pacificator, these German diplomats do not need to invent new quibbles and new lies, -the old ones again and again revamped, will do just as well.

Yes indeed, Germany is going to quit murdering American on the high seasif we will make England lift her block ade! She will apologize for the Lusitania and Arabic slaughterings-"if-

And all this shameless tomfoolery that Mr. Wilson months ago dismissed as worthless, he is once more solemnly considering! Six weeks have passed, but no answer to the president's last letter calling for disavowal of the Lusitania outrage. So it will be in the present case, and then in due time-more sinations of Americans. Do you blame Henry James for expatriating himself in sheer disgust?

The real truth is Mr. Wilson is cap able of nothing but note writing, talk not action, is his forte. Moreover, as heart he is a peace-at-any-price mar as his Philadelphia speech plainly shows and he intends to keep making paper threats to the end of the chapter, jus as he has been doing for nearly three years in Mexico. Meanwhile the German assassinations, like the Mexican murders, will go on, unless finally the disgusted people themselves end the dis-

THE SPIRIT OF THE TEACHER

ONLY about two weeks more remain of the vacation period. At the expiration of this time the public school of the county will open for the 1915-16 scholastic years, and hundreds of children in New Castle county will leave their homes daily for instruction by the various teachers, and upon these teachers a very grave responsibility ests, in that to their care and training is given the future generations of this county.

A teacher can never expect to be a real success unless he brings the right spirit to his work. If he undertakes it from merely sordid considerations, with no appreciation of the fact that his profession offers him not only the means of obtaining a good livelihood but also a channel through which he may greatly benefit mankind, and wir the lasting respect of his generation if he enters upon his work with no thought of this ennobling fact, the chances that he will worthily fulfill his should bring to his work an earnest. faithful, enthusiastic, appreciative spirit-a spirit that yearns above all things to be useful to its race; that places self-seeking and gain far beneath the upright, consistent adherence to duty; that can see the stamp of hono and promise upon the most unl child, and is able to labor early and late not to amass wealth, but to be able say, when the end of all things on earth come to him, that the "world is bette for his living." Of this spirit are teachers that the world delights to honor as true ornaments to their profession

NG LIFE with JOHN HENRY & George V. Hobart

didn't know he had.

The last census shows us that the street cars in the city of New York have more ways of producing nervous prostration and palpitation of the brain to the square inch than the combined population of Amsterdam, Rotterdam, Tinkerdam and Gotterdamseed all winter to act the part of re-rigerators.

It is a cold day when we cannot ind it colder in the street cars.

The germs in our street cars are ex-tremely sociable and will follow a stranger all the way home.

Often while riding in the New York street cars I have felt a germ rubbing against my ankle like a kitten. Being a gentleman, at least superficially, I did not reach down and kick it away, because the law says we must not be disrespectful to dumb brutes.

Many of these street cars are built on the same general plan as a can of condensed milk.

When you get out you cannot get in,

Between the seats there is a space of two feet, but in that space you

Wy friend, Hep Hardy, presented me with a neat little gold hammer day before yesterday. Why, I don't know.

But now that I have it I might as well use it.

Every time I hop into one of those soomy, comfortable street cars in a city of the second, third or even fourth class I immediately contrast it with the wood boxes we use in New York, and I find myself growing red in the face and bitting my nails.

Those Squeezer cars that prowl the streets of New York are surely the breathless limit, aren't they?

The Squeezer cars that prowl the streets of New York are surely the breathless limit, aren't they?

The Squeezer car is the best genteel initiation of a rough-house that has ever been invented.

They are called Squeezers because the conductor has to let the passengers out with a can opener.

Brave and strong men climb into a street car, and they are full of health and life and vigor, but a few blocks of the road they fall out backward and inquire feebly for a sanitarium.

To ride on a Broadway street car, few instance, about eight o'clock of an evening brings out all that is in a man, including a lot of loud words he didn't know he had.

The last census shows us that the street cars in the city of New York the fat lady held them at bay like Horatius held the bridge in the brave days of old.

People would got her brave.

To get in some of the street cars about six o'clock is a problem, and to get out again is an assassination. One evening recently I rode from Forty-second street to Fifty-ninth street without once touching the floor with my feet,

No one was brave enough to climb the mountain which grew up between him and the promised land.

After a while I began to get a toothache in my conscience.

will always find four feet, and their ewners, unless one of them happens to have a wooden leg.

Under ordinary circumstances four into two won't go, but the Squeezer cars defy the laws of gravitation.

A Squeezer conductor can put twenty-six into nine, and still have four to carry.

For a man with a small dining room the Squeezer car has its advantage, but when a stout man rides in them he finds himself supporting a lot of strangers he never met before.

One morning I jumped on one of those Squeezers feeling just like a two year old, full of health and happiness.

During the first seven blocks threemen, fresh from a distillery, grew up in front of me and removed the scenery.

One of them had to get out in a hurry, so he kicked me on the shins to show how sorry he was to leave me.

Chee of the other two must have been in the distillery a long time, because pretty soon he neglected to use was to leave me.

The next day I was riding downtown on the end seat with my mind made up to stay there and keep the harbor to recommerce.

to show how sorry he was to leave me, or of the other two must have been in the distillery a long time, because pretty soon he neglected to use his memory and sat down in my lap. When I remonstrated with him, he replied that this is a free country, and if he wished to sit down I had no business to stop him.

Then his friend pulled us apart, and I resumed the use of my lap.

During the next twenty blocks I had one of the worst daylight nightmares I ever rode behind.

The party who had been studying the exhibits of the distillery became obsessed with the idea that my foot was the loud pedal on a plano and he started to play the "Blue Danube Waltzes."

That man was such a hard drinker "John," I said to myself, "no matter what your motives may be the other fellow will always believe you are trying to get the best of it. If you move over and give the end seat to another gentleman, he will consider it only as his right. If you don't move over he will think you are a Hog for keeping that which is as much yours as it is his."

I began to grow confidential with myself.

Just then the Disinfect brothers. Microbeini and Germicide, walked over me and I had a short but exciting visit to the slums.

New idea in Gymnastics.

Cliff-climbing has become tame sport for the students of the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy. Sighing for a new method of testing the condition of the nerves, the physical injurtuctor, W. Ward Beam, hit upon a decided novelty—crossing a river on a rope bridge.

The idea possessed one charm: the outfit was cheap and easily portable, for it consisted of two stout ropes and nothing more. One rope, according to the plan broached to the eager students and co-eds by the physical instructor, was to serve as a support for dents and co-eds by the physical in-structor, was to serve as a support for the foot, the other to balance the one who essayed to cross a river on this precarious foothold. twenty minutes, I began to discuss

According to Mr. Beam, the object of the rope-walking is simply to harden the nerves of the students. We lack nerve, he says, chiefly because we never do anything to cultivate History.

Apostle Paul Is on Record as Having Created Dissension Among the People of Ephesus by His Preaching of Christianity.

While the matter of Labor day is under consideration, the question arises: What is labor? Webster gives as his first definition: "Toil or exertion, physical or mental."
William B. Wilson, secretary of the department of labor, gave the following as his conception of the idea: "Labor is any mental or physical activity other than that engaged in solely for pleasure"—a definition showing a brain at once prantical activity of the second control of the second cont dence, peculiar only to this degenerate age.

In this connection, while the early history of Rome and the tribulations of the workman of that day show that labor troubles have always been with us, there is a most interesting passage in the Acts of the Apostles, which, when read with an eye to modern labor dissensions, shows that mankind has not varied one whit in his striving for what he considers the fruits of his labor, since the days of St. Paul.

Paul, together with other apostles, labor, since the days of St. Paul.

Paul, together with other apostles,
went up in the Ephesus country, seeking converts to the Christian faith.
Now, Ephesus was the favorite city of Diana, or Artemis, as she was also called. Here was her famous temple; here was her famous statue, said by the priests to have fallen from heaven.
Thither every year came pilgring by the riests to have fallen from heaven. Thither every year came pilgrims by the tens of thousands to worship at the shrine of the tutelary deity—and here a goodly number of silversmiths found their calling a most lucrative one. For, there being no photographs nor postal cards, these pilgrims took away with them small silver facisimile statuettes of the great goddess as souvenirs. Now observe the nineteenth chapter of Acts, according to the twentieth century version of the New Teatament:

"Now a silversmith named Demetrius, who made silver models of the shrine of Artemis (Diana), and so gave a great deal of work to the artisans, got these men together, as well as the workmen engaged in similar occupations, and said: "Men, you know that our presperity depends upon this work, and you see and hear that, not only in Ephesus, but in almost the only in Ephesus, but in almost the whole of Roman Asia, this Paul has convinced and won over great num-bers of people by his assertion that those gods which are made by hands are not gods at all, so that not only is this business of ours likely to fall into discredit, but there is the further danger that the temple of the great goddess, Artemis (Diana), will be thought nothing of, and that she herself will be deprived of her splendor, though all Roman Asia and the whole world worship her.'

"When they heard this the men were greatly enraged and began shouting: 'Great is Artemis of the Ephesians!' The commotion spread through the whole city, and the people rushed with one accord into the theater, dragging with them the companions of Paul."

Certainly there cannot be found in are not gods at all, so that not only is this business of ours likely to fall

william B. Wilson, secretary of the department of labor, gave the following as his conception of the idea:

"Labor is any mental or physical activity other than that engaged in solely for pleasure"—a definition showing a brain at once practical and analytic.

Mr. Powderly would narrow this somewhat by defining labor as "any exertion, mental or physical, not induged in for pleasure and for the benefit of mankind."

Doctor Coulter of the census bureau, an expert on such matters, would give an even broader scope to the word. He defines labor as: "All effort, whether mental or physical."

The question of Labor day naturally brings to mind the collateral labor questions of labor unions protests and strikes. There is a tendency among latter-day philosophers to prophesy all manner of evil to come to mankind by the way of labor unions and their troubles, both among themselves and with others, and to hold forth these troubles as a proof of human decadence, peculiar only to this degenerate age.

DEMAND IS FOR SERVICE Public Ideas Have Had a Significant Change in a Comparatively Few Years.

When the French aristocrat before when the Freich arisaceas before the great revolution was asked as to his chief service to society, he replied, "To have been born." He felt that his mere presence in the world conferred an honor on his country. That has been the attitude of privi-leged classes of all time. But a new ideal has come into men's minds—the leged classes of all time. But a new deal has come into men's minds—the ideal of labor, of service to the community. Today the public is constantly asking men to justify their income. "What have you done to deserve it?" is the question. "By what service to society have you earned your money?"

It used to be considered perfectly clety have you earned your money?"

It used to be considered perfectly proper to water the stock of great publle service corporations. But now people have come to see this means to get an income without working for it, and public sentiment is shutting off the practice.

Melon cutting in connection with franchise grabs was once popular. But it became apparent that this was merely one way of getting something for

So, all up and down the line the demand has come for service in return for income. Society is willing to write its note for pretty hearly any amount to the energetic man, but it insists that the payment shall be for value received.

Show Noteworthy Gains.

The gains in membership of the unions which form the American Federation of Labor aggregated 224,758, on a total of 1,703,749 at the beginning of 1914. The rate of increase was over 12 per cent. It is true that in the same twelve months the number of workers in the United States. ber of workers in the United States who were eligible to membership in the American Federation of Labor in creased more than 224,000. It ma creased more than 224,000. It may have been augmented by 450,000 or even by 500,000, but the fact remains beyond dispute that the gains of the trade unions have been remarkable, from any reasonable point of view.

CLEAN MINDS; CLEAN CITIES

People Must Be Educated to the Necessity of Proper Appearance of Municipality.

"I'm as good as you are," said the dirty man to the well-dressed gentleman in the street car who had drawn away from him a bit.

the party, "we've got to clean out a lot of minds before we'll get rid of this dirt."

"You have to clean minds!"

"Surely. Dirty minds make dirty people, and dirty people make a dirty town. The idea of cleanliness must be put in the minds of those whose present standards of cleanliness are elemental.

"The woman who will tolerate cobwebs in the corner of her ceiling has cobwebs in the corners of her mind. Disorder in a home is evidence of the presence of minds that are disorderly. Our surroundings always reflect what we are within. To make these streets clean we must create in the people who live here a desire for clean streets."

Making the Rock Garden.

The rock garden, to be successful, must be along the lines approved by nature. It must not, in any point, resemble a piece of masonry or other nature. It must not, in any point, resemble a piece of masonry or other formal construction, says a writer in the Minneapolis Journal. The most satisfactory location for it is at the foot of a gentle slope, where it can climb the declivity and the rocks be given the appearance of jutting out from the hillside. But very excellent results may be achieved on flat surfaces if it is remembered to let the rocks appear to crop out on the surface rather than appear to be placed there for a purpose. The rock garden should have its highest point or beginning at some natural or artificial boundary—a wall, or better still, a clump of trees and shrubbery which will serve to mask its origin. From this vantage point it may extend in a natural way to the limits marked out for it; here an isolated bowlder, here a group of less pretentious stones and again a group of large stones may find room in their pockets for a small tree. The extent may be two or three rods in width at one end and gradually narrow until at the other it becomes an occasional rock on the lawn. rocks appear to crop out on the surface rather than appear to be placed there for a purpose. Many Factors Affect Cost.

Certain preliminary estimates given in connection with this series of house plans are necessarily subject to change. For instance, digging a ceilar in rocky, fully ground would cost more than the same job might cost elsewhere. Materials vary in cost as in dividual tastes differ Most of the houses shown in this series have been built about Boston. The estimates given, therefore, are of actual costs. Do not neglect, however, to allow for the inevitable "extras" that crop up in the course of any building operation.

LESSON TEXT-I Kings 18:30-39.

GOLDEN TEXT—Jehovah is far from the wicked; but he heareth the prayer of the righteous. Prov. 15:29 R. V. Following the lesson of last week

Following the lesson of last week we have (ch. 18:1-16) the interesting account of Ahab's search for Elijah and of the prophet's meeting with Obadiah. Verses 5 and 6 suggest the severity of the drought in the land. Ahab's accusation, "Art thou he that troubleth Israel," is replied to by Elijah's challenge regarding a contest between himself, the representative of Jehovah, and the king's prophets representing Baal, (vr. 17-25). In accordance with the stipulations the prophets of Baal accepted the challenge and once with the supulations the prophets of Baal accepted the challenge and most miserably falled (vv. 26-29). The place of this dramatic contest was Mt. Carmel (see map) and the time probably B. C. 906.

I. Elijah's Preparation vv. 30-35.

On Carmel's crown now swarms a cou-less throng less throng
With one brave soul to stand for God
'Gainst millions in the wrong.

—George L. Taylor.

Elijah gave the 450 prophets of Baal and the 400 priests of the groves (v. 19) every advantage possible that he might the more clearly unmask their error and make more signal their de feat. Their frenzied cries and seifinjury continued fruitlessly until 3:00 p. m. Then Elijah announces the deinjury continued fruitlessly until 3:00
p. m. Then Elijah announces the details which were to remove all possible doubt as to whose champion he was or who is to answer his petition. (a) He calls the people together (v, 30) drawing them nigh to God and challenging their undivided attention after the contentor produced, but the private and their undivided attention after the con-fusion produced by the priests and their consternation over their defeat. (b) He constructs the altar (vv. 30-31). Any true and lasting reforma-tion must begin at the altars of God. Restore one in the heart, the home and church and there will return to all unity and strength. Note Elijah's all unity and strength. Note Elijah's insistence upon an undivided nation, as suggested by the "twelve stones." While any lasting reformation must begin in the individual heart, still if it is true and genuine it will work it-self out in the nation. "Israel shall be thy name." The "prince that prevails with God," who had wrought for their fathers, who answered Jacob's prayer, is now about to answer Elijah. This is now about to answer Elljah. This altar was not constructed as a monument to departed one, nor for the ornamentation of the house of God. It was in God's first cathedral and for his glory alone. On this altar Elljah placed his sacrifice.

Again Israel is to prevail over its enemies, this time the enemies, this time those within, not those from without, (c) He covered the altar (vv. 33,34) e. g., poured wa-ter upon it to remove all possible ac-cusation of fraud or trickery. The trench "as great as would contain two measures of seed '(v. 32) is equivalent to six gallons. Three times water was taken from the spring, still flowing at this place, and poured upon the altar, twelve jars in all again symbol-izing the twelve tribes.

II. Elijah's Prayer, vv, 36,37. The great prophet even could only secure through prayer his desired blessing though its purpose was "that this people may know that thou Lord art God." His prayer was: (a) Addressed to God; (b) Grounded upon experience, that of "Abraham, Isaac and Jacob;" (c) It was for one purpose, the honor of that name; (d) It was to sanction his act in calling forth the drought upon Israel as a punishment for the sins of princes, priests and people; sins of princes, priests and people; (e) It was founded upon the word of Jehovah, to corroborate and to affirm the works done "at thy word;" (f) It was for the conversion of the people, that their hearts might be turned back to Jehovah one more.

Elijah, the man of faith, staked his all upon the Word of God, he gave himself up wholly to the plans and purposes of God, and relied explicitly upon the covenant-keeping God. Those who pray coralli

"Yes," answered Mr. Wilson grimly, "I had a lightning lunch, and it was quickly followed by thundering pains!"

Get Products to Market.

"Bad roads in West Virginia cost the state $50,000,000 a year," declared A. D. Williams of Morgantown, state road engineer, to a Washington Post representative the other day. "I mean by this that at least that much money is wasted every year by reason of the inability of the farmers to get their products to market. Thousands of tons of apples and other fruit, garden truck and food supplies are allowed to rot in the orchards and gardens because the roads are too bad to haul it to market. Just to illustrate, Joe Swope, editor of a county paper, noted that he was paying one dollar a bush-elf for apples. A neighbor in an adjoining county, sixteen miles away, wrote the editor and said he would

"The building of good roads is a tremendous economical problem, not merely one of convenience. The automobile undoubtedly has been largely instrumental in bringing about the good roads movement, or rather in giving impetus to it. That and the high cost of living are principal factors in the general campaign now going on in many states for good roads. West Virginla this year will spend $5.00,000 in improving her highways, the different counties having voted bonds to that amount, and in the whole United States the amount spent for good roads this year will probably reach $250,000,000. Last year we spent about $200,000,000, and the increase this year will be fully 20 per cent, I believe."

One of the most important factors in corn production is that of having seed ears of the right type and of good strong vitality. These desirable characters can never be obtained in a strong way except by giving careful attention to the selection and storing of seed.

There is only one proper time of selecting seed, and that is in the field, preferably in October. However, if you falled to select your seed at that time, it will be a great deal better to select it while husking than to wait until after corn is stored in the crib.

Seed corn should be well dried as early after husking as possible. When stored in a crib it does not usually have opportunity to dry well, and consequently is more subject to injury by molds and decay than well-dried corn. For this reason, if for no other, get your seed corn before it gets in the crib, and put it in a place where the air can circulate freely around each ear and drive out the excess of moisture.

Corn may be stored in a number of different ways, any one of which may be thoroughly satisfactory. Special seed corn racks are now used by many, but other methods often prove more applicable to the average farmer's conditions. Don't burn your wheat stubble or straw stacks this summer for the purpose of destroying the Hessian fly. The burning of the stubble or wheat straw in the stacks not only fails to destroy the fly, but will lead to the destruction of organic matter and plant food worth millions of dollars.

The Hessian fly would not be eradicated by burning, because the fly passes its resting stage in the summer not only in the straw and stubble above ground but also in the crown of burned the parasite preying on the Hessian fly will be killed.

There is no danger of increasing the injury from the Hessian fly by spreading straw as a top dressing upon the field. The top dressing of straw upon the field does not furnish winter protection to the fly. Wheat which has been infested with the jointworm and the greater wheat strawworm in large numbers should not be spread on the field. These insects make their presence known by the large number of white heads in the field. If there was a large number of white heads of wheat in your field do not spread the straw on the field. This infested straw, however, may be used as a top dressing on corn ground if the straw be worked into the ground early in the spring.

In trials made by the Michigan ex-periment station to determine the ad-visability of using formaldehyde as a preservative for skim milk fed to four o seven-week-old calves for 24 weeks, 7½ cubic centimeters of 40 per cent formaldehyde being used to each 100 pounds of milk, it was found that in general the calves suffered no dele-terious effects from the preservative, and as compared with calves fed sweet and as compared with calves fed sweet milk or sour milk, made slightly greater gains at somewhat lower cost. From records kept of the after development of these calves it was found that those which had been fed the preserved milk continued to make the cheapest gains, followed by the sweet milk fed calves and the sour milk fed calves.

For the entire experiment the calves fed sweet milk made a total gain of 1,997 pounds, costing 5.41 cents per pound; those fed sour milk 2,489.4 pounds, costing 5.43 cents per pound, and those fed the preserved milk, 2,537 pounds, costing 5.23 cents per pound. It is believed, however, that before definite conclusions can be drawn the work should be carried on with a large number of calves.

MAKING A PROFIT IN CREAM

Many Dairymen Are at Loss to Know Which Is Most Profitable Way to Dispose of Product,

By G. L. MARTIN, Montana Experiment Station.)

(By G. L. MARTIN, Montana Experiment Station.)

The rapid development of the ice cream business within the past few years and the increased call from city trade, hotels and restaurants has created a large demand for sweet cream. For these trades it is desirable that the cream should test about 20 per cent, but often the test may vary up to 40 per cent, depending greatly upon the method of operating the hand separator. When selling cream to creameries, the price is quoted per pound of butterfat, but for ice cream and hotel purposes it is customary to to creameries, the price is quoted per pound of butterfat, but for ice cream and hotel purposes it is customary to pay by the gallon. As a consequence many dairymen are at a loss to know which is the most profitable way to dispose of their cream. The following general rules may serve to determine the relative market price per pounds of butterfat or gallon of cream:

To find the value of a gallon of cream when butterfat is a certain price per pound, multiply the percentage of fat by 8 (the number of pounds in a gallon) and the product by the price per pound. At 30 cents per pound for fat, 20 per cent cream would be worth 48 cents per gallon; 25 per cent cream, 60 cents per gallon; 20 per cent cream, 96 cents per gallon, 40 per cent cream, 96 cents per gallon, 20 per cent cream, 96 cents per gallon, 20 per cent cream, 97 cents per gallon, 20 per cent cream, 98 cents per gallon, 20 per cent cream, 98 cents per gallon, 20 per cent cream would be worth 53 cents per gallon, and so on.

To find the price per pound for but-

and so on.

To find the price per pound for but terfat when the price per gallon of cream is known, divide the price per gallon by eight times the per cent of gallon by eight times the per cent of fat. At 40 cents per gallon, 20 per cent cream would be worth 25 cents per pound of fat. At $1 per gallon, 40 per cent cream would be worth 31% cents per pound of fat.

ROOFING

This roofing certainly has no superior. It is the best roofing that can possibly be made and it is manufactured in and guaranteed by the largest Roofing and Building Paper Mills in the World. 1-ply is guaranteed 5 years; 2-ply, 10 years, and 3-ply, 15 years, and this guarantee means the minimum life of the roofing. Thousands of Certain-teed Roofs all over the country are outliving the period of the guarantee.

When the General first entered the field the cost of roofing was two or three times more than it is today and the quality was not as high as Certain-teed is today. By reason of his enormous output the General has not only been able to bring down the cost and selling price of roofing, but he has also been able to raise the quality to its maximum. Today every fifth roll of roofing sold bears the Certain-teed label.

SHINGLES

These shingles are made of the same high-grade materials as are used in Certain-teed Roofing. This process recognizes the principle that roofing materials don't wear out—they dry out. Therefore, Certain-teed Roofing is made with a barder blend of amphalt and coated with a harder blend of amphalt and coated with a harder blend of amphalt and the life of the roofing—from drying out quickly. This produces a flexible shingle, a true sign of thorough asturation in the slowest drying asphalt mixtures that can be made for roofing purposes. A thick, stiff or heavy-bodied asphalt shingle is by no means a proof of durability on the roof.

We use only genuine crushed slate in natural green or red colors for surfacing the Certain-teed Shingle. No painting is necessary. We don't try to use old brick, common rock, or crushed tile from old tile roofs. The slate also increases the fire-resisting qualities, thereby minimizing fire dangers and lowering insurance rates.

Certain-teed roofing, shingles, wall boards, felts, building papers, etc., bearing the General's name, are sold by your local lumber or hardware dealer at very reasonable prices. Don't send your money away for these goods. Patronize your home dealer.

SOME HINTS FOR BUILDERS

Great Care Should Be Taken in Selec-tion of the Most Substantial Roofing Material.

If you were without preparation or If you were without preparation or plan, rudely placed in a wilderness, your first thought would be of food supply and your next of shelter, for these are the two most vital necessities of mankind. It is therefore natural that the best thought, and study are put upon these two essentials.

natural that the best thought, and study are put upon these two essentials.

More forward steps have been taken in the building industry in the past fifteen years, as regards comfort, service and architectural beauty than in the fifty years previous.

Only in recent years has the handling of cement in building work been understood properly, and progress is still constantly being made with it. Modern hotels and office buildings are being equipped with sheet metal mouldings and steel veenered doors. Nearly every important change in building construction is away from the fire hazard of wood.

One of the most significant developments of recent years is the crushed slate surfaced asphalt shingle which is, on new construction and old, rapidly supplanting the wooden article. There are many reasons for this. The slate surfaced shingles add beauty to any building—in fact, there is really no comparison from an architectural standpoint. Crushed slate of pleasing tints of red or green, is employed as a surfacing. The shingles are uniformly eight inches wide and are exposed four inches to the weather. No painting is necessary as the red or green crushed slate is natural and therefore cannot fade.

The purchaser, however, should guard himself against buying a slate surfaced shingle that is net guaranteed by a reliable and responsible manufacturer. There are so many kinds of roofing and shingles are represented honestly.
